Dear (Enter Wife's First Name Here),

On behalf of the Master and members of Rabboni Lodge I would like to thank you for supporting your husband as he takes his first steps in Freemasonry. I would also like to provide you some background into Freemasonry and Rabboni Masonic Lodge, in particular.

Masonry in Massachusetts shares a rich tradition of brotherly love, relief, and truth dating back to early colonial days when our founding fathers, many of whom were Freemasons, formed our great country. From the operative masons who built the magnificent cathedrals in Europe during the middle-ages, to today's speculative Freemasons, like minded men have sought others who share the same values and wish to form lasting friendships. This is the essence of Freemasonry and what Freemasonry offers to all good men of strong, moral character.

Your husband has embarked upon a lifelong journey of self-improvement and charity toward others. Through lessons imparted during his three 'degree' nights, he received a source of positive influence that compliments others in his life. As he continues his journey he will gain a greater understanding of those lessons and be better able to apply them to his many roles.

Rabboni Lodge welcomes men from all generations and walks of life. We take great pride in our members who unceasingly give of their time, treasures, and talents to fulfill the tenets of our fraternity. The meaningful lessons during our monthly meetings, the camaraderie shared during social events, the commitment to helping others, all contribute toward offering a unique satisfaction in time well spent.

Rabboni Lodge also welcomes the families of its members and encourages them to enjoy the company of each other during social events. In the past, we have held an annual ladies night, a year end holiday party, and a family summer picnic, to name a few. By including our families, we allow those people most important to us to benefit from our fraternity.

In closing, thank you again for supporting your husband in Freemasonry and I welcome you to the extended Rabboni Lodge family.

Sincerely,

Richard H. Ryder
Ambassador, Rabboni Lodge
